

Mark Nishimura

markn1@stanford.edu | <https://markn.is/himura/>

Education

Stanford University

Ph.D. Electrical Engineering

(expected) Jun 2023

M.S. Electrical Engineering

Jun 2018

B.S. Electrical Engineering with Distinction

Jun 2016

Minor in Mathematics

Work Experience

Research Intern - Camera and Photos, Apple

Summer 2020

- Camera Algorithms

Research Intern - Information and Media Processing Lab, NEC

Summer 2015

- Estimating Infrared from RGB

Research Experience

Stanford Computational Imaging Lab

Fall 2018 - Present

EE REU (2016), RA (2017), Boyd Lab

Summer 2016, 2017

- Convex optimization solver benchmarking in CVXPY

EE REU, Arbabian Lab

Summer 2014

- Rare cell detection, magnetoacoustics

Stanford Institutes of Medicine Summer Research Program (SIMR), Butte Lab

Summer 2011

- Pathway Analysis

Teaching Experience

EE 103: Introduction to Matrix Methods, Stanford University, Teaching Assistant

Fall 2015-2016,
2016-2017,
2017-2018

Publications

Disambiguating Monocular Depth Estimation with a Single Transient.

Nishimura, M., Lindell, D. B., Metzler, C., Wetzstein, G., ECCV 2020.

Awards and Scholarships

Tau Beta Pi Engineering Honor Society

2017

GE STAR

2012

National Merit Scholar

2012